Ed Herrington was up again this morning and was fined $4.00.

Sacred Concert Sunday.

Great preparations are being made for the sacred concert to be given at East Fairmont Park Sunday by MacArthur's orchestra. The boat, City of Fairmont, will leave the wharf for the park at 1:30 o'clock. It can easily carry three hundred passengers. The concert will be given by a seven-piece orchestra and will last from three until five o'clock. The music will be suitable for the occasion and will be first-class, as is always furnished by MacArthur. Refreshments of all kinds will be served on the grounds.

A Month's Vacation.

The Marion County Bar Association held a meeting at the Court-house last evening. According to the resolution passed, a man who gets in jail during the month of August will have an awful time getting a lawyer to defend him. The resolution was that all the members will close their offices the month of August. The lawyers want to take that month to rest. When asked what they would do, a prominent attorney said that they would go to the different summer resorts and watering places and drink—cold water (?).

Suspicious Looking Character.

A hurry call was sent in to police headquarters last evening for an officer to come to East Park—that a suspicious looking character was loafing around there and that the women were all scared. Assistant Chief Bartholow was soon on the scene and found the man nearly at the city limits. He was an old clock repairer and, as no weapons were found on him, he was shaken until he thought there was an earthquake and sent on his way. The man was drunk.

Fairmonter Got the Job.

H. C. Brooks, of this city, has been awarded the contract of installing the new water works system for the town of Shinnston. It is a big job, and will be done right. According to the contract, work is to be commenced before July 1st, 1904, and the same is to be completed by November 1st, 1904, and the town is to have a first-class, up-to-date water works system.

A Nice Order.

The Thomas G. Aultman Pump Works, of this city, has received the contract for a large pump for the Shinnston water system. This company is just beginning the manufacture of its products, but this order shows that people are not afraid to use them.

The Widow In India.

No institution of India has been so exaggerated as that of the widow. She really occupies a place analogous to our antique old maid, now so fast disappearing in the girl bachelor. The aged widow who has remained true to her principles is regarded as a holy being who has withstood a thousand temptations and persecutions and commands the respect of a saint from all persons. She is the mother of all the children in the neighborhood, the helpmate of all the neighbors. At evening they flock around to hear her repeat the ancient legends, the stories of Sita and Saurtri, Draupdia, or sing the songs of Mira Bai. She is in great demand when cooking is needed for a sacred feast. She teaches the little ones their first hymns and prayers. She nurses the sick, comforts the dying. She believes herself to be bound to her husband for everlasting time through all births and deaths. The momentary separation here is but one shade of her marriage, an unknowable mystery of destiny. It breaks no tie.—Everybody's Magazine.

Helping a Composer of Music.

Haley was somewhat of a pedant in writing music. He worked very slowly and deliberately and made hundreds of changes before he was satisfied. When ideas would not come at his bidding he employed a very singular means to help his genius along. A kettle filled with water was put over a fire, and the monotonous singing of the boiling water acted as a wonderful stimulant on his imagination. While composing, his brother, Leon Haley, was always with him, doctoring the verses of the text and adding and scratching syllables wherever it was necessary. For this reason he was called "text surgeon" among his friends. Leon Haley was by no means a prepossessing man, and the poet Heine is responsible for the following description of him: "He looks as if his brother had composed him."

SOCIETY

A CHARMING RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sands Entertain Last Night in An Elegant Manner.

The reception given by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sands, at their home on Main street last evening, complimentary to their son, Dr. W. H. Sands, and his bride, was one of the leading society events of the year. Nothing had been left undone to make the affair a success, and the guests passed the time in a most enjoyable manner. The guests began arriving at 8:30 o'clock and remained until 12. In the receiving line were: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sands, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Sands, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sands, of Wheeling and Harry S. Sands, of Wheeling. It seemed that all of the 350 guests tried to make the affair a pleasurable one. Most pleasing refreshments were served to the guests. MacArthur's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. When the time to depart came each one went away feeling that he had been royally entertained.

Dance To-night.

One of the best dances of the season will be given at Traction Park this evening by the Fortnightly club of this city. The members and their friends will attend.

W. C. T. U.
MEETING

IS NOW IN SESSION AT FARMINGTON—MANY INTERESTING EXERCISES—CONTEST LAST NIGHT.

The Marion County W. C. T. U. Institute, which is being held in Farmington this week, opened yesterday at 3 P. M. in the M. E. church.

A large number of delegates are in attendance, the following unions being represented:

Fairmont Central, First ward, Fairmont, Mannington, Amos, Broomfield and Farmington. A very interesting program was carried out, with Miss Frances Ensign, of Ohio, institute leader.

A splendid paper was read by Mrs. N. R. C. Morrow on "Alcoholics in Medicine," followed by a question drawer on the subject.

Last night a packed house greeted the class of contestants for the W. C. T. U. gold medal. Miss Ensign, who presented the gold medal, said it was one of the best contests she had ever attended, there being only a fractional difference between the contestants, who were Miss Blanche Collins, Fairmont; Elsie Smith, Fairmont; Mildred Hutchinson, Amos, and Mr. Ulan McCune, Broomfield. The latter won the medal. The recitations were interspersed with music.

This morning at 8:30 o'clock the county executive committee held a business session at which the date and place of holding the county convention was decided. It will be held at Fairmont, First ward, the first week in September.

At 9:15 o'clock A. M. the institute opened with devotional exercises led by Mrs. Helliwell, of Mannington.
